THE SOUTH CAROLINA DISPATCHES.

The Shameful Story told by the Ciphers.

We give below the text of the translation of the most important of the cipher despatches connected with the scandalous plotting of Tilden's agents to buy or steal the Electoral vote of South Carolina. The first are between Smith M Weed, a special agent sent by Tilden to South Carolina and Pelton the nephew and private secretary of the Democratic candidate

Nothing definite [illegible] working. Things mixed here. Our party claims Hampton party are trading off Tilden. I believe it. Proceedings in court don't seem to disturb Chamberlain's party. Last telegram here. There is undoubtedly good ground upon which favorable decision could be had but to be consistent and sustainable it would and should involve election. Hampton or [illegible] would be involved in inconsistencies impossible to sustain. You must be satisfied that action upon which papers issue is justified by facts, and all trading is prevented. Try and make [one] portion pay ble after votes are [cast] and another portion after final result. Doubtless good faith is intended, but there should be some sufficient guaranty accepted. Telegram received too late to answer last night. Don't quite understand. Do you want me to go to home of Stearns [Florida]? Think now I will meet him with party at Baltimore. Could not make it depend on March, but would on regular certificates of Board and other officers. The exact status is that two of Board have agreed and are consulting with the third, which is a majority and will report to night. They set stakes and I assented but can withdraw. Smith Weed, who has been here since Tuesday, looking after Tilden's interests, leaves to-night for the North.

And his arrival was recorded in the Baltimore papers thus Hotel arrivals Baltimore Monday November 20 1876. At Barnum's Smith M Weed of New York.

Of the failure to carry out this bargain the Tribune says

The extraordinary behavior of the State Supreme Court in this juncture is a matter of history. It commanded the Board to certify the election of all members of the Legislature who appeared to have the greatest number of votes on the face of the returns, but in relation to the electoral ticket it took the opposite ground, and commanded the Board to revise and correct the figures according to the precinct returns. This order was issued on the 23d. But on the 23d at noon the powers of the Canvassing Board expired by limitation. Perceiving that the purpose of the court was to prevent any canvass of the electoral vote (which would have been equivalent to giving the Presidency to Tilden) the Board met on the morning of the 22d, and before the orders could be served it had completed its work, issued certificates to the Hayes electors and a Republican Legislature (five Democratic Assembly men from Edgefield and three from Laurens being excluded) and then adjourned sine die so that when the precepts of the court were issued there was no longer a Canvassing Board in existence to receive them. With this sudden movement, brought on by the lawyers of his own party, Mr Tilden's chance of buying the Board forever disappeared and all the negotiations of Smith Weed were brought to naught. The result might have been very different if Tilden's secret agents and the local leaders of the South Carolina Democracy had not been so often at cross purposes

The next plan was to purchase enough members of the South Carolina Legislature to count in the Democratic state government, summon Hampton's rifle clubs to seize the State House, declare the Hayes electors intruders and issue new sets of certificates to the Tilden electors and to attack the title of the Hayes electors in the State Court and either force them to recognize the jurisdiction of that tribunal in which case they would be enjoined from acting or to imprison them for contempt and keep them locked up until the day for the voting was over. The following despatches refer to this business

COLUMBIA, Dec 1

County canvassers' returns give Republican electors majority, these believe in correct and that regular precinct returns will elect several Democratic electors. It is expected State may unite with Republican House and inaugurate present Governor to morrow. May cause mischief which courts cannot remedy. The newspaper despatches at the time described the sudden gathering of armed men which followed these calls. Finally came the attempt to have the Republican Electors arrested on some pretext and thrown into jail to prevent the casting of their votes. The instructions for this outrage were sent from Tilden's headquarters in New York as follows

NEW YORK Dec 5
To F, or A. C. Haskell, Columbia
Important judge on quo warranto be obtained (omission). If order to deliver paper appurtenances to office, (i e the returns) be disobeyed, immediately commit for contempt, or if [Electors] attempt the exercise of authority by meeting, ATTACH FOR CONTEMPT. Prepare beforehand and enforce immediately would be appropriate. Would be humane to imprison them separately during Wednesday. All depends on your State. Let nothing undo"

"Here" says the Tribune, "with this shameless attempt to seize by force of arms and the usurped authority of a shameless court, the high office which he had tried in four States to buy, we leave for the present Mr. Samuel J. Tilden, the Reformed Democrat. The South Carolina scheme at last fell to the ground because the one part necessary to give validity to all the rest was not obtained. The four votes necessary in the State Senate could not be bought, the eventful day came, the Republican Senate stood firm; and the votes of the seven electors were duly cast on the 6th of December for Hayes and Wheeler."

*Possibly a slip of the pen for "America," which would here be understood in the sense of South Carolina.

Saturday afternoon as Mr. Frank O Woodbury, the stable man on Green street, Portland, was training a horse at Presumpscot Park the harness broke letting the carriage run upon the animal. Before Mr. Woodbury could stop the horse he began to kick and one hoof struck Mr. Woodbury near the groin and inflicted a wound which bled profusely. The other hoof struck him [illegible] cutting the flesh to the bone, the size of the shoe so that it could be turned back several inches, thus exposing the tendons. He was taken to his home and his wounds dressed, and Sunday was as comfortable as could be expected.

FITZ-JOHN PORTER'S CASE

WHAT PRESIDENT LINCOLN THOUGHT OF THE SENTENCE

[From the N Y Times, Oct 11]

There were some rather dramatic episodes in the Fitz John Porter case yesterday with a large volume of matter the relevancy of what was not apparent to uninitiated spectators. Judge Advocate Gardner whose placid self possession conceals a racy sense of humor made a feint of objecting occasionally in order to brighten the farcicality of the situation, and thus, by a brilliant manoeuvre, got in without serious opposition a mass of testimony rebutting the statements of Gen Porter in his notes to McDowell on the field that he had no messengers and was without artillery. It has been shown on the contrary that a squadron of cavalry, numbering from 75 to 100 men, reported to him for orderly duty about 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Aug 29 and was stationed at the front with Morell for the rest of the day. This was the significance of the apparently irrelevant testimony of Capt Taylor, of the First Pennsylvania Cavalry and the several members of the regiment who corroborated his statement. It has also been brought out in the course of investigation that Gen Porter had eight batteries under his command that day and was consequently amply provided with artillery. Gen Morell, who commanded Porter's advance wishes to contradict the statement that his division retired at all during the afternoon of Aug 29. No such order was issued by Porter, and no such movement had been commenced when the 4 30 order was received. His division bivouacked that night on the ground occupied in the morning and remained there until recalled by order of Gen Pope on the second day of the conflict. The evidence of Mosby the famous rebel guerrilla leader did not prove as lucid or as important as that of the staff officers of Jackson and Stuart, developed last week. An important witness was Robert T Lincoln son of the lamented President, who testified to a private conversation with his father relative to the Fitz John Porter court martial but could not state with certainty whether it occurred a day or two before or after his father approved the findings of the court and ordered the sentence to be carried into effect. Gen Porter listened with averted and flushing countenance while young Lincoln repeated the words of his father that the facts would have justified a sentence of death. The cross examination failed to shake the positiveness of young Lincoln's recollection relative to the opinion of the President although it elicited the admission that he did not know to what extent his father's views were based upon the statement of the Judge Advocate

The history of Mr Lincoln's deep concern as to the issue of the campaign that terminated so disastrously in the second battle of Bull Run must be briefly noticed in order to trace out the several sequences that contributed to the formation of his opinion respecting Porter's guilt. While Pope's campaign was in progress letters from Gen Porter to Gen Burnside were laid before the President, from which he gathered the impression that Gen Porter would not very zealously support his new superior during the pending struggle. The President sent for Gen McClellan and requested him to prepare a message to his old friends in the Army of the Potomac asking them to co operate heartily with the plans of their new commander. McClellan did not deem it necessary but expressed his perfect willingness to satisfy the scruples of the President. Such a message was accordingly transmitted and appears in evidence. Events followed fast upon each other for the next few days, the terror of Gen Lee's irruption into Maryland for the time being superseded all other issues and Gen Porter's conduct was not called into question until McClellan had assumed command and the expulsion of the enemy from Maryland was accomplished. The investigation recalled the painful impression produced by the letters submitted to him and roused him to the point of strong and uncompromising indignation which he expressed in his talk with his son then about 20 years of age and [illegible] his father's confidence to a degree most complimentary to his discretion

Another somewhat dramatic piece of evidence was brought out by the examination of Dr Edward Paxton, a surgeon in Porter's corps who deposed to some orders given by the General to one of his aides which evinced anything but a spirit of hearty co operation on his part. "Tell Morell to halt his division. I don't care a —— if I don't get there in time." The remainder of the day was taken up with the examination of witnesses from the First Pennsylvania Cavalry a couple of witnesses for the petitioner and with the development of corroborative evidence on the various points at issue

John S Mosby of Warrenton Va testified that he was on the staff of Gen J E B Stuart in August, 1862; late in the afternoon of Aug 28 witness rode with Gen Stuart to Thoroughfare Gap to see when Longstreet was coming up; when they returned along the Warrenton pike it was nearly dark and they got entangled in the engagement between Gen Ewell and King's division of the Union forces, as they were riding along the road the fire of musketry attracted their attention, and they went in the direction of the flashes in the melee they got separated, and witness passed the night with Jackson's infantry, there was very heavy fighting early the next morning witness was with Jackson's centre all day and did not see Gen Stuart at all, a report was current along in the afternoon that the Federals were turning Jackson's left, and witness went with Gen Patrick to meet the advance of the enemy who were getting in the rear and bade fair to capture the supply and ambulance trains, there was something of a panic at the moment but its progress was readily arrested. The general impression of witness was that there was heavy fighting all day

Gen Schofield inquired how near Thoroughfare Gap witness went on the night of Aug 28. Witness replied within four or five miles. Gen King's division of the Federal troops was in motion beyond Gainesville, and there was a sharp engagement going on at Thoroughfare Gap.

Dr Edward Paxton, Assistant Surgeon in the Second (Gen Griffin's) Brigade of the First Division of the Fifth Corps (Gen Porter's) said his corps was lying at Warrenton Junction on the night of Aug 27, the corps started quite early in the morning, and arrived at Bristow Station about 2 or 3 o'clock P. M., remembered seeing Gen Fitz John Porter on the morning of Aug 28, Porter had his head-quarters at a house on the right of the road, as his regiment came up he heard the General use these words speaking to one of his aides "Tell Gen Morell to halt his division. I don't care a —— if I don't get there in time." On the night of Aug. 28 Gen Porter's corps was encamped at Manassas Junction, witness was with the advance (Morell's division) at Dawkin's Run on the following morning; the troops were withdrawn about a mile at 4 P M, or not far from that hour. The witness was cross-examined but his direct testimony was not shaken

Gen Mosby [recalled] remembered being with Pelham's Battery about the middle of the afternoon on the first day of the battle, the battery was just in the rear of the left centre of Jackson's army, a report came that the Federals had turned their left, and were coming down on the rear, and there was something of a panic, recollected seeing Pelham unlimber the guns and open a rapid and heavy fire upon the enemy advancing diagonally from the left

Robert T. Lincoln, son of the late President Lincoln, was the next witness. Mr. Lincoln recollected having a conversation with his father relative to the Fitz John Porter case; the interview took place in his father's office, in the President's mansion at Washington. He was unable to fix the date with precision, but it was probably very early in the month of January, 1863. His father referred to the finding of the court martial; was very severe in his condemnation of Gen. Porter. He could not say with certainty whether it was just before or just after his father had approved the sentence of the court. His father gave him some account of the case as it was reported to him, and told him the substance of a note written from Gen Porter to Gen McDowell on the afternoon of the battle in which the former stated that he believed our forces were being beaten and he was about to withdraw toward Manassas. He remembered one remark of his father's particularly; it was "In my opinion the conduct of Gen Porter, taken in connection with that letter, has been such as to justify a sentence of death," he did not distinctly recollect any other details of the conversation but he remembered in a general way that his father was very strong in his condemnation of the letter. His father's remarks conveyed the impression to him that he regarded the sentence of the court martial as too mild rather than too severe

GLENBURN CATTLE SHOW AND FAIR

The Glenburn Farmers Club held its annual Cattle Show and Fair at Glenburn Centre on Tuesday, the 1st day of October. The weather was beautiful being just such a day as one would have selected for such an occasion, and the exhibition was in all respects a success, being perhaps the most satisfactory Cattle Show ever held by this organization. The display in all respects was good the Cattle and Fruit departments being particularly attractive. The cattle numbered about one hundred and fifty and were generally very finely bred animals and would have reflected credit upon any Agricultural Society in Maine. Among the more prominent exhibitors were A W Dudley with 26 head mostly thoroughbred and grade Ayrshire, W F Gibbs 17 head thoroughbred and grade Short Horn, C W Cowan, Horace Pendexter, William B Elliott and many others who had large contributions to this department which added largely to the attractiveness of the Show. The Lewiston Journal says Friday a crew of ten men under the charge of Mr Isaac N Mitchell at the reservoir shoveled into teams two hundred and fifty square yards of loam in ten hours which is an average of twenty five square yards to a man

An enterprising Androscoggin farmer arose at three o'clock one morning recently in order to get to market in good season. After harnessing his horse in the barn he went into the house. When he returned he found his noble animal in an embarrassing position. The floor boards had given away and the horse was hanging by the neck with his heels dangling below the floor. The neighbors were aroused and with their [illegible] the animal was saved

The Lewiston Journal says About half past nine o'clock Sunday evening while in his store Mr Ed Wakefield [illegible] smoke and going out the back door discovered a fire beneath the sill of the next building but one in the alley back of Lisbon street and making rapid headway. He at once gave the alarm and the fire department promptly came to the scene. The fire run up to the top of the building promptly came to the scene. The fire run up to the top of the building through the end of the roof but was extinguished in a short time by the effective streams thrown on. The building was owned by Fred Horton and John Haley. The store on Lisbon street had been occupied for some time [illegible] moved out of the [illegible] where the fire was [illegible]. On Saturday evening, 19th inst the Rev Samuel [illegible] of Danville Junction was on his way to an evening meeting, his horse a very spirited one turned from the road enough to let a forward wheel drop suddenly a few inches and Mr [illegible] being a very heavy man was thrown violently to the ground while the horse went on without him and took his sulky [illegible] the meeting house. Mr [illegible] was unable to move but succeeded in making his cries heard at the house of Mr [illegible] near where he was thrown. He was brought to his home about a mile and a physician summoned who pronounced his injuries very serious, finding a partial dislocation of the right shoulder and two ribs broken which it is feared will disable him for a long time

The Augusta Journal says A dance was to have been held in Packard Hall Winthrop Thursday evening but as a token of respect to Mr McCausland who died upon that day it was postponed. The lamps had been lit, however, by the janitor, but when he was informed that there would be no ball that night he commenced to extinguish them. The large chandelier which hung in the center of the ball containing sixteen lights. The janitor had extinguished three of these lights when without a sound of warning the entire chandelier fell from the ceiling passing through a thick birch floor, and making a hole in another one beneath. The janitor was uninjured as the chandelier did not chance to hit him. But how would it have been if, upon this evening as arranged couples had been on the floor engaged in dancing? It seems certainly almost miraculous that we are not obliged now to chronicle a severe or fatal accident

The Mail says that a little daughter of Mr Frank Yeague of Waterville, was so shockingly burned on Monday that her life is in danger. Her mother was obliged to go out washing, and so locked up her child, as the river was near the house on one side, and the railroad on the other.

TILDEN'S TRICKERY

There never was a greater affront to intelligence, or a more transparent hypocrisy than the persistent attempt to hold up Samuel J Tilden before the people as a man of lofty integrity He has advertised himself as a Reformer by puffs printed at so much a line in country newspapers all over the land and many Republican journals have thought it high toned and magnanimous to help build up his false reputation Through all these years in which he has succeeded in posturing in the newspapers as a model of virtue, he has been known in business circles and by all well informed men in politics, to be one of the most crafty unscrupulous and dishonest men in the country Several years ago while a large part of the press was flattering this pretender, we denounced him in the WHIG AND COURIER as an arrant trickster and corruptionist and cited ample evidence from his career to support the charge During the very height of the Tammany Ring scoundrelism in New York Tilden was the associate of Tweed and worked the political wires that fraudulently maintained the Ring in power Not until Tweed was overthrown completely did he come to the front as a reformer, and then with the craft of his nature he turned his knowledge of the villany to account in gaining credit for skill in tracing the guilt of his late companions and allies In a recent interview the venerable Thurlow Weed expresses the opinion that clear headed men have long entertained of Tilden and recalls to mind the notorious secret circular issued by the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee in 1868 as follows

(Private and strictly confidential
ROOMS OF DEMOCRATIC STATE COMMITTEE }
October 27 1868 }

My Dear Sir —Please at once to communicate with some reliable person, in three or four principal towns and in each city of your county and request him (expenses duly arranged to this end) to telegraph to William M Tweed Tammany Hall, at the minute of closing the polls, not waiting for the count such person's estimate of the vote Let the telegraph be as follows, This town will show a Democratic gain (or loss) over last year (number), or this one if sufficiently certain This town will give a Republican (or Democratic) majority of There is of course an important object to be attained by a simultaneous transmission, at the hour of closing the polls but no longer waiting Opportunity can be taken of the usual half hour lull in the telegraphic communications over lines before actual results begin to be declared and before the Associated Press absorbs the telegraph with returns and interferes with individual messages, and give order to watch carefully the count

Very truly yours
SAMUEL J TILDEN Chairman

The object of this circular was to obtain early knowledge of the number of fraudulent votes required in New York city to overcome the heavy Republican majorities in the State The information was given and the city ballot boxes stuffed with tens of thousands of fraudulent votes which put Hoffman, the Tammany tool, in the Governor's chair and gave the State to Seymour and Blair When called to account by Horace Greeley in the Tribune for this palpable rascality Samuel J Tilden made the same plea that he has put forward in the case of the cipher despatches that the circular was issued without his knowledge" Perhaps somebody believed him but Mr Greeley did not seem to think his protestation consistent with facts or with Tilden's action in reference to consummating the frauds

No other man in this country has been caught and exposed in so many disreputable intrigues as Samuel J Tilden and for newspapers now to talk about the cipher revelations being inconsistent with his high character is silly, if not wicked, trifling with notorious facts

The Washington Sunday Herald, which is strongly supported by many of the leading Democrats in Congress speaking of the cipher despatches, say that the wires and shabby strings of Tilden's complot are laid so bare that no one can pretend not to see them It declares It is quite immaterial in a political point of view whether the authorship of the telegrams Tilden repudiates with such a lack of indignation is brought home any closer to him or not His senile cunning in having them sent by others is of no avail, since the others in question were his bosom friends confidants and necessary agent It is not pleasant to think that the Presidency of this Republic was during some time up for sale at auction, and begging a purchaser, and that the defeated bidder simply became so through chronic inability to act with decision

In quoting Senator McDonald's views of the October elections in Monday's Commercial, the able editor evidently failed to notice that in reply to a question about Tilden's letter the Senator significantly replied That I have nothing to say about nothing Our neighbor also failed to note the World's comment

Senator McDonald's strong sense and his political courage are things so good of themselves and of so refreshing a quality in these days that perhaps our readers will forgive him for saying nothing when he had nothing to say about Governor Tilden's letter

Says the Orange N J Journal Think of Tilden standing on the steps of his house in Gramercy Park, the very spot where these schemes of bribery were sanctioned, and daring, with hypocritical face to denounce the election of President Hayes as a great fraud, which the American people have not condoned, and never will condone—never, never, NEVER!"

The Tribune states in reference to Weed's directions to have a man sent to meet him in Baltimore with the $85,000 in three packages "It is within our knowledge that on the day in question an intimate associate of Mr Tilden, whose name we have was at Barnum's Hotel in Baltimore, in company with Mr. Smith M. Weed"

The President, in conversation recently expressed great indignation at the outrages in the South. He said that he wished to be understood that he should protect the colored race in their political rights to the utmost of his power.—Boston Journal special.

Well, that is just what we have been demanding for some time. Now we want to see what the President considers the "utmost of his power."

The Boston Journal's Washington special says "The Democrats admit that they have fears that the Republicans have secured confessions of some of the Democratic agents in South Carolina and Florida who will disclose under oath the whole story of the attempted corruption."

A HUMILIATING CHAPTER.

Wade Hampton's Despotism—Why Outrages are Committed with Impunity—Contempt for National Authority—The District Attorney a Creature of Hampton's—Current Belief that "Hampton has the President under his Thumb"—Evidence that Looks very much like it.

The special staff correspondent of the New York Times, sent to South Carolina to ascertain and report the facts of the situation, confirms the worst reports of the outrages on Republicans in that State, and declares that there is not in South Carolina an honest, right-minded man who does not know that from the mountains "to the sea the Democratic minority of "South Carolina has determined, by fair "means or foul, to defeat and override the "Republican majority" In a letter dated at Columbia, Oct 17 the writer details the armed raid upon the Republican meeting at Sumter, and the interposition of the State Courts to prevent the trial of the leaders by United States tribunals, and then he gives the reasons for the utter contempt for the National authority by the South Carolina Democracy The statements made by this careful correspondent are calculated to create considerable sensation in "Administration circles," and to cause citizens everywhere to ask if Wade Hampton is running the United States Government We quote from Mr Carroll's letter

"But, it may be asked, why are these men and others like them unable to find security under the United States statutes, which provide that every citizen shall be free to exercise his political rights according to his inclination and convictions? The question is easily answered The majority of the Democrats of South Carolina have no respect for the United States laws as they are now administered The United States District Attorney, Mr Northrup, is in no way fitted for his office, an office which he holds by virtue of Gen Hampton's favor He has made no effort to carry out the instructions conveyed in the recent letter of the Attorney General He is so much engaged in an effort to curry favor with the Democratic leaders that he has no time to consider the wrongs which are every day being put upon Republicans Still further than this the majority of the Democrats of South Carolina have neither regard nor respect for the Administration of President Hayes Right or wrong they are impressed with the idea that Gen Hampton has the President under his thumb and it must be confessed that a number of very peculiar circumstances justify them in this belief

"Among the number of stories current here and which point in the direction indicated I may mention one in regard to the killing of Ladd, the illicit distiller by United States officer It will be remembered that the man in question was the partner of the notorious Redmond who was one of the most desperate criminals in the State, and is frequently declared that he would never be taken alive Deep in the mountain passes of the Blue Ridge far from civilization or from any settlement, four revenue officers came upon the outlaw They attempted to arrest him He resisted and snapped his gun in their faces Then fearing for their own lives, they fired on him and he fell dead The officers at once reported what they had done to the Collector in Columbia and gave themselves up to the civil authorities in Greenville Then, knowing that they could expect no justice from the State courts of the district where the illicit distilling interest was more powerful than the law they asked as they had a right to do under the statutes that their case be transferred to the United States Courts The notorious Judge Kershaw refused to grant their their application and defied the United States authorities Gen Hampton did not interfere President Hayes was in a dilemma—put to his wits ends He did not like to let the outlaws of South Carolina put at naught the authority of the nation and it was against the very first principles of a truly good reconciliation policy for him to have a row with Wade Hampton He was equal to the emergency He sent for a well known native of the State an Administration Republican whose name can be given if this statement is questioned, and begged him—no other word can be used—begged him to go to Gen Hampton and request him as "an honorable and fair minded gentleman" not to put the National Government in a false position by refusing to deliver up the revenue officers to the United States authorities The gentleman referred to asked why the President could not convey his wishes in writing and his Excellency replied that he did not think it would be prudent to do so Upon this the gentleman promised to take the necessary message to Gen Hampton He did so and shortly afterward the United States Marshal received an intimation that the prisoners would be delivered over to him He went to the jail at Greenville took charge of the revenue officers formally but immediately returned them to the Sheriff, charging him to keep them for the United States So the authority of the National Government, by the grace of Wade Hampton was sustained President Hayes was not unmindful of the service which South Carolina's chief had done him Hardly had the transfer of prisoners been made when upward of 300 illicit distillers and whisky block ade runners were released and granted full amnesty for all past offenses by the United States Attorney acting under orders from Washington, All these outlaws are now at large, while the revenue officers who, in the discharge of their duty and in self defense, killed a desperado are still in custody. Regarding them Wade Hampton's organ the Charleston News and Courier, of this morning prints the following

The prisoners are ruffians who under the authority of a United States commission, either recklessly or maliciously granted, for a long time harrassed and persecuted the people of the mountain districts of South Carolina, until their vicious career finally culminated in the diabolical murder of Amos Ladd, for which they were arrested by the State authorities Their case has been transferred to the United States Court with a view of shielding them from the consequences of their crime, and it is due to justice and humanity as well as to this State and people, that every such attempt should be thwarted"

"It is by such publications as these, by communications from President Hayes to Gen Hampton similar to the one referred to, and by the appointment of men like Northrup to Federal positions that the average white native of South Carolina has been taught to laugh at what is called the authority of the United States. And still the black men—faithful and steadfast, though alone and unaided—proclaim their loyalty to the Republican Party H. C."

President Hayes is credited with the assertion that the laws shall be efficiently executed in the Southern States and the colored race protected in the enjoyment of every right guaranteed by the Constitution. He, however, deprecates the use of the military except in cases where such force becomes absolutely necessary.—Boston Advertiser.

May we venture to ask the Advertiser why it does not charge the President with "waving the bloody shirt"?

SENSIBLE ADVICE

It is quite likely that the following story may have been founded only on the correspondent's idea of Senator Hamlin's opinions, but it is good enough to be true, and we give it as copied and commented on by the N. Y. Tribune

Ben Hill's remarkable "fraud" letter has revived an old story concerning an interview between President Hayes and Hannibal Hamlin, a year and a half ago. As a Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader tells it, Mr Hamlin called at the White House before leaving for his home at the close of the special session of the Senate which met at the time of the inauguration of the President. He told the President he had called from a sense of duty, which he hoped would not be considered an impertinence He had been in Congress to see the mistakes of eight Presidents, and he wished to warn him against the danger of trusting the promises of Southern Democrats. "They will flatter you and court you," he added, "so long as you are of any use to them, but when they have got what they want they will kick and malign you. They are an ungrateful, hypocritical set of rascals and I hope you will have nothing to do with them" The President thanked the venerable Senator for his kindness, but replied that he was sure he was mistaken, for he had seen a good deal of Senators Hill, Gordon and Lamar, and others, and respected them very highly "So I hear" burst out the old gentleman, "and I'll be blanked if it is any credit to you" Perhaps Mr Hill's letter will show the President that experience is after all a pretty good guide in politics

Two hundred and twenty four tons of campaign documents were sent through the mails from Washington in a Congressional election year, at an expense to the public of about $30 000 —Commercial, Oct 22d.

The Democratic Congressional Committee has nearly finished its campaign work A million and a half of documents have been distributed — Washington despatch, Oct 20

The Commercial quotes the Cincinnati Enquirer to show the practical identity of the Democratic and Greenback parties

Poor Business with Cotton Spinners.

The limited liability cotton spinning companies of Oldham and Ashton-Under-Tyne districts, publish a very unfavorable report of the last quarter's business. Of thirty companies one will pay a dividend of 4½ per cent. per annum; 9 report very small margins of profit, and 20 report losses, some of serious magnitude. Further reductions of wages are threatened.

He declared also that, with every sympathy for the heroic bravery of the Turks, he could not defend their administration. A Vienna despatch states that Herr Tizza's speech won back the confidence of the majority and his success in the Hungarian Diet is certain.

Chas. Dwinel has a choice lot of Florida oranges and some excellent grapes.

Capt. Charles Staples Jr., Steamboat Inspector, was at the Exchange yesterday.

Elisha Washburn has been appointed Postmaster at Hodgdon, Aroostook county.

The Argus says: "Miss Dora Wiley has been engaged in the choir of Unity church, at Worcester, Mass.

The work of leading the gas pipes to the toll bridge will probably be completed about the last of this week.

The Penobscot River Ice Company have their lot nearly graded, and will soon commence work on their houses.

The annual meeting of the Penobscot Farmer's Club will be held at the Fuller school house on Saturday, November ninth.

The Ladies Crusade will hold their weekly business meeting this afternoon at half-past two and a prayer meeting at four o'clock.

This afternoon Messrs. Pearl & Webb will sell the southerly tenement of the two story brick house on Fourth street, known as the Thurston house, at public auction, at half past two o'clock.

Some seven or eight men are now employed white washing the toll bridge. They have completed about one-half of the bridge and when the work is finished it will be a great improvement.

We understand that a petition requesting that Mr. Jesunofsky may remain in charge of the Signal Office in this city has received the signatures of a large number of our citizens and been forwarded to Washington.

The meeting of the Stockholders of the Farmers National Bank, held yesterday, to decide whether to continue the banking business or to wind up the Bank, adjourned for four weeks without taking action.

One of our citizens suggested yesterday that it would be a good idea to have some dippers placed on the fountain on the Custom House approach, as a great many people step up to the fountain every day for the purpose of getting a drink of water.

Mr. Jesunofsky, who has had charge of the Signal Office in this city, has received orders to come to the headquarters of the Department at Washington, and will start Thursday morning. His successor, Mr. Charles G. Buck, of Baltimore, arrived in the city yesterday.

ACQUITTED. The Argus says: A despatch from Denver, Col., states that Marston was on Saturday acquitted of the murder of a young man named Higgins, formerly of Boston. The two men were associated in business in Denver, and Higgins' sudden death led to the suspicion that he had been poisoned by his surviving partner. Marston was formerly in business in Lewiston and Bangor.

"THAT MYSTERY." In yesterday's issue we copied an item from the Portland Press in relation to the mysterious appearance of a female—on Frye's Island, and the following despatch received this morning, throws more light on the matter: "The woman for whom search has been making for several days on Frye's Island, in Lake Sebago, was found Monday. She is insane, and refuses to state how she got there or who she is. It is rumored that about a month ago two men and two women rowed up by the Island, and on returning one of the women was missing."

CITY HALL. The address given by Miss Kimball in City Hall last evening was listened to by a fine audience, with no less gratification than has been given by each of her previous addresses given in this city. It was replete with experiences both thrilling and touching, in the work of reform, with clear logic and eloquent appeal; and was pronounced the finest of the four addresses. Miss Kimball has come here by invitation of the Women's Temperance Union, and in the juvenile Sunday school work has made the most favorable impression. She leaves Friday morning for Portland, where she has been holding meetings, and speaks there again on Sunday next.

THE ENTERTAINMENT at the Essex-st. church last evening was well attended and the following programme was enjoyed by all: Piano solo, Miss Kate Ingalls; declamation, "Another Victim," Mr. McCloud; song, "Let me dream again," Miss Helen Osgood; song, "My little woman," Mr. Farrington; recitation, "Tale of the Welch mines," Miss Mary Prentiss, and in response to a hearty encore she gave a selection entitled "The kiss in school"; song, "Aye or no," Mr. Haynes; song, "Do not forget," Mrs. Crowell. The above selections were all finely rendered, and called forth considerable applause. At the close of the entertainment all who desired were served with refreshments.

THE ORGAN SOCIETY of the First Methodist Church held a "Parlor Concert" last evening at the residence of the Pastor, Rev. H. W. Bolton. A very enjoyable evening was spent in literary and musical selections, both vocal and instrumental.—Solos were sung by Messrs. Burbank, Holden and Barker; piano solos by Mrs. Ayer and Miss M. E. French; a duet by Messrs. Holden and Barker, a quartette by the Misses Hodgdon, Rev. Mr. Bolton and Mr. Holden. The piano accompaniments were played by Mrs. J. B. Ayer. A very neat little poem entitled "The day before the Wedding" was also delivered by Miss Amanda Wilson, which was both unique and expressive and delivered by the young lady in a most effective manner, to an appreciative audience.

FRUIT TREES. The Pioneer says: "E. W. Merritt, son of E. Merritt of Houlton, has sold upwards of four thousand fruit trees in Aroostook county since last June. The trees are all hardy varieties, peculiarly adapted to this latitude, and grown in this town and Woodstock from the seed. Those who think choice plums cannot be grown upon Aroostook soil would be surprised to see the variety called "Moore's Arctic," which withstands our cold winters, is free from mildew, blight or black knot. We are glad to see the farmers of this county turning their attention to fruit raising, as there is no portion of the farm more profitable than a thrifty orchard. We expect to see apples shipped from this county, from which many thousand dollars have been sent abroad to pay for fruit that could have been raised here at less than the cost of freight. Those who purchase trees of Mr. Merritt can rely on getting just what they pay for."

WRECK OF SCHOONER EVELINA. The Press says: "The schooner Evelina, Capt. Bracey, of Brooklin, Me., which has been mackereling off the shore, came in to Portland last night, and, after disposing of the fish to Messrs. Curtis & Prince, Custom House wharf, and taking some family stores aboard, started for home Saturday afternoon. At night the wind was blowing so very hard they attempted to make Town's End Harbor, Boothbay, there to remain during the night, but in so doing they mistook Hendrick's Head Light, Southport, for Burnt Island Light, and the consequence was they went on the ledge, and the schooner with everything aboard of it, with the exception of the men, who escaped in the dory, became a total wreck. They were picked up by schooner Toronto, Capt. Galt, of Boothbay, which was on its way from Portland to that place, and safely landed. The schooner was the property of Capt. B. A. Friend of Brooklin and was valued at perhaps $1000.

ROWDYISM IN BREWER. Monday night a number of young men in Brewer determined to tender a serenade to Mr. Charles Boden of that place, who had recently been married and had just arrived home from his bridal tour. They possessed themselves of the necessary "instruments" and started for the residence of Mr. Boden, where, in a short time a large crowd of roughs also assembled, to see what was going on. Not satisfied with being spectators, they soon took charge of the serenade themselves, and for a while created a lively disturbance. They got a small cannon which they placed in the square and while some were firing a salute, others amused themselves by throwing various missiles against the house. Fearing that the mob might do some serious damage, Mr. Boden started after Constable Moore, and as he opened the door to pass out of the house, an apple thrown by one of the crowd struck Mrs. Boden in the face. Mr. Moore soon came out and in a short time induced the crowd to disperse, after which all was quiet. Yesterday morning it was ascertained that very serious consequences came near resulting from the action of this crowd. An iron bolt some ten inches long and nearly two inches in diameter, had been discharged from the cannon and struck the house of Capt. Geo. Oakes, near the ferry way, forcing its way through the wood work, and lodging in the plastering. The bolt having been thrown about one-eighth of a mile, its force was greatly diminished and as it struck the house side-ways, it fortunately did not pass entirely through the partition; otherwise a little child sleeping near where it struck must have been seriously injured. As yet it is not known whether the iron was placed in the cannon by those firing it, or by some evil disposed person in the crowd. The matter will probably be investigated.

NEW GREEN HOUSE. Mr Thomas Allen, the well known florist, has recently erected a new green house on his place on Court street, which is pronounced by judges to be one of the best this side of the largest cities. It is fifty-two feet long by twenty-two feet wide, and is built with a span roof, having glass on both sides, and is located where the sun shines upon it from morning until night. In the centre there is a double staging, with a circular table in the front and another table on the top, in which the roses are bedded out, and also staging on both sides of the house. At the rear of the house there is a small shed in which there is a ten horse power locomotive boiler for heating purposes. The feed pipes will lead into four inch steam pipes, of which there will be four ranges, two on each side of the house. In the rear of the house there is a propogating table across which the steam pipes will run, and the floor will be made of artificial stone. When the plants, which are looking finely, are all arranged the house will well repay one for a visit.

FINE TEAS.

PRICES REDUCED.

PLEASE READ THIS.

IT WILL PAY YOU!

It is a well known fact that there have always been more poor Teas sold in Maine than in any other State. Indeed, so well is this known to wholesale dealers in Boston and New York that they invariably say in speaking of Tea too poor for any other market: "Have you any trade in Maine? If so, these Teas are good enough for them."

The reasons for this demoralized state of the Tea trade in this State are: First, the consumers, in their mistaken ideas of economy, have continually called for low priced Teas; and secondly, the dealer, in order to meet this demand and also to compete with his unprincipled neighbors, has been forced to keep a few of these poor goods. But we are pleased to say that a large majority of consumers have learned, and more are learning, that POOR TEAS are the most extravagant goods to use, besides being very unhealthy, as almost all the very low priced Teas are damaged. Very few of the retail grocers are judges of Tea. They have so many articles to buy that they pay little, or no attention to their selection. They intend to and no doubt they think they sell the best Teas; but they have to depend wholly upon the wholesale grocer to select for them, and he naturally enough sends the Tea he is most anxious to get rid of. We have had

part of that time being connected with some of the oldest Tea, Coffee and Spice firms in Boston, and have always paid special attention to the selection of TEAS. With this experience and a natural taste for the business, we certainly should be a good judge of Tea, and we never buy a Tea without first testing it thoroughly, so you can rely upon always getting the same grade of goods at the same price of us. Knowing that there are a great many persons in this vicinity who appreciate FINE TEAS, we determined to have some EXTRA FINE, and after carefully searching the New York market, we can safely say we have some of the Finest Teas ever Offered for Sale in Bangor,

They are the very highest grade of GARDEN TEAS, so called, for the reason that they are grown in small cultivated gardens, and not in fields like other Teas. They are the first picking of the young, tender, spring leaf, and were picked in April of this year, and have more aroma and fragrance than leaves picked at any other season of the year. In fact they are the brought to this country. All we ask of any person who has been buying Teas elsewhere, and is not satisfied with the quality or price, to try ours.

We are now selling the greatest bargains in Teas ever before offered in Bangor. Knowing that the dealer who sells the best Teas at the lowest price will get the largest trade, we are determined to deserve the reputation of selling the best Teas for the price sold in Maine. A trial of our goods will convince you that our prices are at least 25 per cent. lower than other dealers charge for the same quality of Teas.

We have the largest and best assortment of Tea to be found in any store east of Boston.

Our Teas at 25 and 30 cents are for those parties who still insist upon having cheap goods. They are sound—(we will not have a damaged Tea in our store)—but we do not recommend them, but advise all our customers to buy better goods. Our Teas for 35c ℔ ℔., 3 ℔s. for $1.00, are as good as we ever sold before for 40c ℔ ℔., and are as good as the majority of the retail dealers in the country sell for 50c ℔ ℔. Our Tea at 40c ℔ ℔., 2 ℔. for 75c., is as good as any other dealer sells for 50c. Our 50c Tea is as good as most dealers sell for their best, and is the best Tea for the price in Maine. Our 60c Teas are extra fine, and are the finest that have been sold heretofore for the best by the best grocers. But our GARDEN TEAS are the very best Teas imported, and you cannot buy better Teas in Bangor, Boston or New York, at any price. Please try a small quantity of our Teas at the same price you are now paying and see how much better they are. If they are not perfectly satisfactory return them and have your money refunded.

To Retail Grocers, Peddlers and Parties who Buy in Large Quantites for Cash.

We buy Teas in large quantities through brokers of the importers, for net cash, and sell only for cash on delivery. Consequently we can and will sell lower than you buy. We do not send out peddlers. Any person outside our store claiming to sell goods for us is a fraud. All goods sold by us will have our name on the package.

Please give us a trial. We guarantee satisfaction.

"TIS BETTER TO HAVE LOVED AND LOST."

BY CHARLES QUIET

BEREAVED

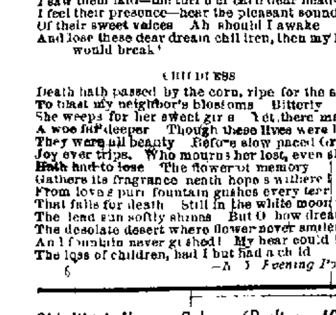

Ah, wherefore must I weep when I but hear
The laugh and shout of happy girls and boys
Out in the street? There is no merry noise
Within this silent house—no children near
My children are all dead! Yes 'tis not clear
And sure to me. The ghosts of my dead joys
Are all about me. Fancy half destroys
The sting of sorrow, though an icy fear
Freezes my heart. My happy girls both dead!
I cannot feel it so. Though in the ground
I saw them laid—the turf o'er each dear head—
I feel their presence—hear the pleasant sound
Of their sweet voices. Ah should I awake
And lose these dear dream children, then my heart would break!

CHILDLESS

Death hath passed by the corn, ripe for the sheaf,
To blast my neighbor's blossoms. Bitterly
She weeps for her sweet girls. Yet, there may be
A woe far deeper. Though these lives were brief,
They were all beauty. Before slow paced Grief
Joy ever trips. Who mourns her lost, even she Hath had to lose. The flower of memory
Gathers its fragrance neath hope's withered leaf.
From love's pure fountain gushes every tear
That falls for death. Still in the white moonlight
The lead sun softly shines. But O how drear
The desolate desert where flower never smiled,
And fountain never gushed! My heart could bear
The loss of children, had I but had a child.

DR. NORMAN'S FOOT SALVE,

The Sure Cure for Corns and Infallible Remedy for Bunions, Sore and Inflamed Joints and Chilblains.

This Salve is the result of years of study and experiments by a distinguished Chiropodist, and we feel confident in offering it to the public, that it will meet the wants of thousands of people that are afflicted with these most troublesome of its cases—Corns, Bunions, and Sore Joints—as every person so suffering can be cured by using this Salve. It has an advantage over other preparations of a like nature in the market that it does not burn the corn out, but it softens the flesh around it and so separates it that it can be removed without pain or bleeding. Persons using this Salve will find it will work as follows: After applying the Salve three or four times a ... Sore or Inflamed Joint one application will almost entirely remove the inflammation, and if persisted in will surely cure.

This Salve will not cure a soft corn, but will remove the inflammation and keep the foot in a comfortable condition.

COALINE

Has no equal for cleaning Paint, Graining, Varnished and Marble, Gold Frames, Pianos, Sewing Machines, Oil Cloths, Silver Ware, &c., without soap or water. Removes Ink Stains, and Grease of any kind from White Cotton and Linen Fabrics and from Carpets and all Woollen Goods of fast color. Rinsing one half with water makes a harmless and fine shampoo for the head. It will remove dirt and stains from the hands leaving them soft, smooth and white. House kept clean a year for twenty five cents.

What ladies say who are using Coaline:

"I would not keep house without it."

"Although cheaper than soap I should use it if it cost twice as much, it leaves my hands in such a nice condition."

"Worth more than you ask for it, just to take off the pencil marks my children will make on the walls."

"Have never been able to keep my mirrors satisfactorily clean until I used Coaline, as other ways of cleaning injure the frames."

"It is wonderful for cleaning fly spots from windows and window sashes."

The highest testimony from the multitudes who are using it ... cleaning done in one fourth of the time ... not injure the most delicate surface. Once used I will never be abandoned.

We ask from every fair minded, economical person an impartial trial of Coaline. It can be obtained at Grocers by the pint, quart or gallon at the rate of 10 cents per quart, making it cheaper than soap.

DIRECTIONS.—Take a clean sponge and wet slightly with the Coaline, thoroughly moisten (not wash) the surface to be cleaned, then wipe dry with a damp linen with a clean dry cotton cloth changing the cloths as often as soiled, and the work is complete. Wash the sponge after cleaning paint before cleaning glass.

For Graining, Glass and all polished or delicate surfaces reduce one half with water. A sponge should never be used on mirrors or piano cases, a piece of soft flannel being the proper thing.

Follow the directions. Ask your Grocer for it. THOMPSON & KELLOGG, Agents, ... Central Street, Wholesale and Retail.
